Inspector's Report Bears Out
Statement That Wincapaw
Died At Controls

Civil Aeronautics Inspector R. A. Thomas of Concord, N. H., was in Rockland Friday to make the official CAA inspection of the wreckage of the Cub seaplane in which Capt. William Wincapaw and his passenger, Robert L. Muckenhirn, crashed Wednesday afternoon.

City Council

The City Council, in a special session at 5.30 p. m. Monday, established a Commercial Zone C on Camden street, extending from ident, he stated that there was no evidence of structural failure in the plane. He further stated that the engine of the plane was unquestionably developing power when it struck the water, supporting the report of the medical examiner of Wincapaw's death at the controls. The plane was bought by Chester Fissette for salvage after being beached out on Crockett's Point Friday afternoon.

Three advisory boards were established by Council order to be of not less than five or more than nine persons each. Members will serve at the pleasure of the Council for indefinite terms and will take no oath of office. The three boards are intended to assist in keeping the ordinances of the city to date in respect to their special departments. Those established were Fire Prevention Code Advisory Board, Building Code Advisory Board and Traffic Code Advisory Board.

WAS A BLAZING INFERNO

Raymond Bucklin's Barn On Limerock Street
Doomed After Cows Turned Out

Rockland firemen did a remarkable job of firefighting last night when they confined a fire in the barn of the Raymond Bucklin farm on Limerock street to that structure and saved the house which adjoined.

The barn, which contained about $1000 worth of new hay, according to Victor Bucklin, was a blazing inferno when discovered by the younger Bucklin who had left it only a few moments before. He said that he had just finished the chores and had turned the eight cows out to pasture when the blaze broke out.

A farm horse, which was quartered back of the barn, was burned to death as flames spread so rapidly it was impossible to get to him.

A water screen was kept in action on the inside wall of the ell which joined the barn while another wet down the ell roof continually, holding the flames to the barn itself.

Victor Bucklin stated that he carried no insurance on the hay but that the buildings were covered.

Raymond Bucklin, owner of the property, who is employed in Pownal, was away at the time of the fire. Mrs. Bucklin, overcome by the shock of seeing her property afire, was treated by physicians in the home of neighbors.

Firemen worked until 11.15 a. m. Tuesday, moving what hay there was left from the barn to prevent an outbreak of the flames during the night.

Total loss in the blaze had not been determined at press time this morning.

THREE GOVERNORS EXPECTED

Montpelier

The annual meeting of the Knox Memorial Association will be held Friday starting at 9.45 at "Montpelier," to which the general public is invited. It is expected that Governors Horace Hildreth of Maine, Charles Dale of New Hampshire and Robert Bradford of Massachusetts will be present and following their arrival an informal reception will be tendered them.

A wreath will be placed on the Gen. Knox grave at 10.45 according to the usual custom, and at 11.30 there will be a pilgrimage to the Tolman cemetery in Rockland.

William Roach, 46, of 29 Lisle street was saved from death by drowning Sunday afternoon only by the skilled work of Dr. Edwin Scarlot and the rescue squad of the Rockland Fire Department composed of Wesley Knight and John Robishaw.

Roach, at Spruce Head Island, near Sim's Lobster Pound with a group of friends, was overcome in the water and was taken out by Welto Williamson who was one of the party. Dr. Scarlot, who was passing was hailed to give aid.

He gave artificial respiration at once and ordered that the rescue squad with the resuscitator be called. He continued to give artificial respiration and succeeded in restoring breathing.

He was relieved by Knight and

A local newsound, who was passing through Lincolnville Beach Sunday found that little community in a state of great excitement. On one side of the road two cars were ditched on the other side another had met similar fate, while crosswise of the highway was a lumber truck. A large crowd was assembled at the scene of the mishaps, when suddenly down the line came an ambulance, full tilt. "Guess I'm Johnny on the spot," said the newsound, with visions of a tragedy to write. But it developed that nobody had been injured, and the ambulance was on an entirely different errand.

I was deeply shocked to learn of the death of Mrs. Martha Philbrook, who for several years conducted a popular wayside inn near the Owls Head post office. Along with many other Rockland patrons I found excellent service there, and a kindly, courteous proprietor.

The current issue of the Bridgton News was so excellent that the exchange editor sent The Courier-Gazette duplicate copies. It's a contemporary newspaper decidedly welcome on our list.

Book Review

"Kingsblood Royal." Author, Sinclair Lewis. A Random House Novel, New York.

This proves to be a blazing story with a theme that will jolt the Nation, so the slip cover inside page tells us. And as Sinclair Lewis usually can, he makes his story stand out as a unique spot in history.

It isn't altogether pleasant reading; his books seldom are, but the novelty he inculcates into his themes holds the reader to the end wondering how he will wade out of it with any real meaning.

This story sets up the claim that the name "Kingsblood" comes direct from royalty with a sure fact that the members of his family are heirs direct from King Henry and Catherine of Aragon, who had a son and concealed the fact, when Henry kicked Catherine out and took on another Queen.

Then there is a lot about this Negro question, pro and con. It's to me the most unhealthy writing and the tone is far too robust for any pleasure to be attained and digested from this class of literature.

Sinclair Lewis is far too high in literary ability and talent to give to the reading public, this class of thinking; but some will remind us, that if the Blacks are educated, and allowed to mix socially with white people, why should this condition not be the next problem on our hands, as pictured in Kingsblood Royal.

—Kathleen S. Fuller.

[EDITORIAL]

WALLACE MOVEMENT STARTED

A movement, said to be voluntary, has been started in California to boom Henry A. Wallace for President in 1948—"whether he wants to be a candidate or not." The group drafted an open letter to Wallace calling upon him "to continue your courageous leadership in the fight for world peace and 'economic security at home.' The group hopes to present the letter, with 100,000 signatures, to Wallace on his birthday, Oct. 8. An advisory committee was named to boost the Wallace movement and to raise a campaign fund. It is too early to tell what may happen if Wallace should run and be defeated, but the tenor of the California meeting is said to have been distinctly hostile to the man who occupies the seat to which Wallace's friends believe he was entitled. The contempt with which the Truman forces view Henry Wallace may not be unshared with apprehension over the prospect of a third ticket in the field next November.

MUST WE WAR AGAIN

There seems to be plenty of hostile action on the other side of the water, with indications not lacking that Uncle Sam may have to take a hand in it. With the horrors of the last war still so fresh in mind, and the tragedies of World War I far from forgotten, it does not seem possible that civilized nations can conceive of another which may be close at hand. If the first world war was not comparable with the one which followed what shall be said of another in which newly developed weapons would be as comparable as a paper cap pistol and an atomic bomb. Perish the thought!

BELATED GARDEN PERIL

With a more or less rusty hay crop still partly harvested, and many vegetable gardens just beginning to take hold, one wonders what the result will be, particularly if there should come a succession of early killing frosts. The situation is about as peculiar as Maine farmers ever find it—with about one-third of the garden barely started, and about one-third of them showing the development which one is led to expect midseason.

"HE NEVER FALTERED"

"It seemed then, it seems now, that they alone stood between us and the abyss." This was the tribute of Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, to the 1,495 young citizens who gave their lives during the crucial three-month Battle of Britain. He spoke at the recent unveiling of the memorial in Westminster Abbey. In a small chapel which is part of Henry VII's chapel there is a carved walnut altar with cross, rails and candleabra, and near by an illuminated roll of honor. Back of the altar there is a lofty and magnificent stained-glass window. In the upper lights are seraphim and lower down the Virgin and Child with figures of armor looking up to them. In the window also are the sixty-three badges of the fighter squadrons that took part in the battle and flags of all the countries of the heroes, including our own. Below in small letters are the words Shakespeare put into the mouth of King Henry V at Agincourt, and which far from losing their peculiar authenticity through the centuries have rather gained in fervor and poignancy: "We few, we happy few, we band of brothers."

The ceremony itself had all the impressive and solemn pageantry with which the English traditionally invest their great moments. More than 2,500 close relatives of the fallen were present. King George VI unveiled the memorial. Queen Elizabeth, Queen Mary and the young Princesses were with him. The Prime Minister, representatives of the dominions and past and present leaders of the Royal Air Force and Battle of Britain pilots acted as ushers and an honor guard. There was only one thing missing in this splendid tribute. He who never doubted, never faltered when clouds were darkest, the most eloquent and forceful speaker of our time, should have had a part in the ceremony. It is a great pity that Winston Churchill had not sufficiently recovered from an operation to attend. —Herald Tribune

CONCERNING CORN CROP

The nation's corn crop, whose prospects had suffered much from rains, floods and a cold June, is reported from Washington as now making good, if delayed, progress. Certainly the warm, humid days and nights of the last week have been ideal for corn, whether the crop be a few rows of Golden Bantam in a Cus Cob garden or ten acres of field corn on bottom land along the Connecticut River. For corn, in appearance and history that most tropical of farm plantings, thrives on hot, moist weather. Given this it can bring Central America to New England and transform, for a season, a landed New Hampshire deacon into a neo-Mayan priest.

It requires little imagination now to think of corn as getting taller in the night, making up for lost time. Surely there must be a satisfied rustle from broadening leaves as some humid breath of air drifts across the rows. Out of nearby woods a raccoon, that native wanderer under the moon, will doubtless emerge to make his own crop report. Probably he will give a soft whicker of disappointment as he notes how far the stalks are from producing those half-ripened ears on which he hopes to feed in future midnights.

Both men and raccoons, of course, are traditionally interested in the status of America's corn crop, this Summer or any other Summer. For it was Indian corn that gave Mayflower tourists and descendants their only sure chance of survival here. The tribes had developed the culture of a crop that had crept northward from Guatemala and they passed on their secrets and seed corn to the hungry colonists. Early Winturons and Bradfords were glad to give thanks for daily bread made from that same crop which now across America is stretching upward in the night—to become pork chops in Chicago, Johnnycakes in Rhode Island and moonlighted corn-on-the-cob for plump, whickering raccoons. —Herald Tribune

The Rockland Rockets won their second game of the season Sunday at Community Park, and oddly enough the victim was the same team which it had once before defeated—Winslow.

Giddings displayed fine control, issuing only two comps while holding the Winslow outfit to five scattered singles. He incidentally (apologies to Jim Britt) interjected a two-base hit. The Giddings-Thompson combination pleased the spectators who were duly enthusiastic over the Rockets victory.

Coombs led the local batters with three hits, while two each were collected by Thompson and Giddings. Coomb's home is in Boothbay Harbor.

"Mike" DiRenzo, popular playground instructor, and Joe Coombs, star center fielder, roamed all over the Community Park, preventing base hits.

Stan Sherman of Wiscasset, former Twilight League Great, was in the Rockets' lineup, and the fans were glad to see him in action again. Stan is a former Bates star. Rockland scored all of its runs in the fourth when Thompson and Coombs singled, Sherman doubled, Kelsey singled, and Seastrom reached on a fielder's choice.

The Pirates knotted up the sun-berth at Camden Sunday by defeating their hosts 6-2. Though the Shells outthrew their victors, LaCrosse kept the hits well scattered and only lost his shutout in the ninth by pitching a home run ball to Bossier, who boosted it over the left field fence with one mate aboard.

Two runs came for the Pirates in the fourth. Barlow walked, LaCrosse singled and Chisholm was walked intentionally to fill the bases. "Ott" Billings came through with a sharp single to left to score two mates.

In the sixth Barlow walked and LaCrosse came through with his third hit of the day, a double to the deep center field fence, to score Barlow.

McLellan opened the seventh with a single to left and Duff walked. Jones rapped a single to center scoring McLellan. Duff scored on Miller's fielder's choice when the shortstop erred and Jones tallied as Anderson grounded out.

The Pirates defensive play was clicking smoothly and was highlighted by Chisholm's catch of Whittier's home run try in the second and Billings' back-handed

It is well illustrated.

Chief of Police George W. Lilienbach announced yesterday that the bus stop near the junction of Park and Main streets and in front of the Anastasia store on the East side of Main street was discontinued as of midnight Saturday. He points out that the stop is not authorized by City Council order and that the nearest stop to Park street for Camden bound passengers will be at the stop opposite the Thorndike Hotel. The Chief also announced that parts necessary to put the traffic lights in operation in keeping with timing set by ordinance have now arrived and have been installed.

Holds Happy Reunion At
Copper Kettle—Ladd
Again President

The annual reunion of the Rockland High School class of 1904 was held at the Copper Kettle Friday night. Kind nature gave a perfect Summer evening, flowers here and there nodded their welcome as we entered the Copper Kettle. The delicious banquet suited our keen appetites.

Outstanding in the room was a large basket of white gladioli and red carnations, the gift of Mrs. Lena Lawrence True in memory of her sister, Mrs. Emma Lawrence Stanford, who was one of the 1904 graduates.

The business meeting was called to order by the President, Walter C. Ladd, and the minutes of the 1946 meeting were read by the secretary. Greetings and messages were read from Bertha (Cates) Vezina and Myra (Cates) Redman of Danville, Me.; Wendell A. Hodgkins, Winthrop, Mass.; Annie (Goolby) Emmens, Methuen, Mass.; Mildred (Clark) Emerson, Los Angeles, Calif.; Florence (Haley) Cowie, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.; John Sansom, Waldoboro; Mrs. Gertrude Isby Padelford of Robinson, Me.; and California (a former teacher), telegram and telephone call from Nellie Dean Tolman, Auburn, Mass. We missed the inspiration of Anna Laughlin this year as she was away at her Summer home. We regretted that these absentees could not be with us.

Interesting remarks were made by two former teachers Ralph L. Wiggin and Miss Harriett B. Long.

The nominating committee, Mrs. Bessie Davis, Ralph Choate and Rita P. Coburn met and presented the following slate of officers for 1947: President, Walter C. Ladd; vice president, Clarence Barnard; secretary, Evelyn R. McKusick; chairman of transportation, Donald H. Peller; committee on arrangements, Mrs. Florence T. McMillan, John Sansom and Mrs. Freda P. Brackett.

The class accepted John Sansom's invitation for a picnic at his Waldoboro farm. This will be some time during the week of Aug. 25, thus honoring Nellie Tolman who will be in Rockland at that time.

Those present at the reunion were: Graduates, Elizabeth (Whitman) Davis, Florence (Thomas) McMillan, Reta (Patterson) Coburn, Frances (Butler) Sherer, Bert Wardwell, David E. Crockett, Evelyn (Richardson) McKusick; classmates, Freda (Porter) Brackett, Charles A. Keene, Ralph Choate, Kate (Donohue) Gould, Maud (Ingraham) Gould, Jennie (Odiorne) Oliver, Walter C. Ladd, Margaret (Perry) Marshall; guests, Mrs. Bert Wardwell, Mrs. Charles A. Keene, Mrs. Walter C. Ladd, Mrs. Ralph Choate, Miss Harriett B. Long, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Wiggin.

Showboat Captain Carr Tells
Members About Coming
Presentations

The long list of visiting Rotarians at Friday's session shows the popularity of the coast as a Summer resort, and the hominess of our Club as a rendezvous for all such visitors. Present were: Charles Williams, Schuykill Haven, Pa.; Dr. F. H. Perkins, Clinton, Mass.; Ham Gilmore, East Providence, R. I.; Charles Holden, Hanover, N. H.; C. H. Collins, Dundee, Fla.; Walter Lindsey, Wallingford, Va.; Alfred Laliberti, Camden; Jack Selig, Bronx, N. Y.; Jordan, Houlton; Wallace Smiles, Bala-Cynmid-Narbeth, Pa.; Harry Thompson, Boston; F. E. Poland, Boston; Henry Dow, Trenton; N. J.; Orrin Cocks, Wellsboro, Pa.; Oscar Holmel, Lewiston, Chester Baker, Waterville. Guests for the day were Rev. F. K. Gifford, Cambridge, Mass.; Curtis M. Payson, Union and Rockland; K. L. MacArthur, Medway, Mass.

President Ken Crane presiding, called for a moment of silent prayer in memory of William H. Wincapaw, Sr. With bowed heads the Club paid tribute to the sterling character, and forceful vitality of the man whom all knew as "Bill."

President Ken appointed the following to serve on the Boy Scout Fund Committee, Charles Emery, chairman; Clint Robinson, Albert MacPhail and Henry Bird.

The meeting was then turned over to Joe Robinson in charge of program.

I see that our good secretary has announced that I had iron in the fire for this meeting. I had, but they are now out and red hot. I know that you will enjoy the program. I was most happy when I was sure that this program could be made possible. I am most pleased to introduce to you George Carr, captain of the "Georges River Show Boat."

George said in part, "You are perhaps wondering what it is all about. The entire motive of the Georges River Show Boat Company is to help by its entertainment to raise money for civic improvement. There is no gain to any one of the Company. I myself, wrote the play, the players of unusual talent give their services. Now, as all of the Warren tickets are sold, may I urge you all to attend with your families and friends the Show Boat Show which is to be given in the Community Building July 28 and 29, and remember that the money so raised is for a playground project for the children. The costumes used are the gleanings of old historic attics, and I dare say that $75,000 would not be an excess of their value. Now I am happy to be here, but I won't come again unless a much smaller town, did it last year. The complete co-operation of all Service Clubs will make this possible."

Captain Carr gave a clear, concise synopsis of the play, The Captains.

General Invitation To Visit
Knox Hospital Wednesday,
July 30

General Chairman Alan L. Bird has just issued an invitation which is meant for everyone in Rockland, throughout Knox County and those portions of adjoining counties which are served by the Knox County General Hospital. The invitation which also especially extends to all of Summer residents and visitors throughout this territory follows: "The Officers and Members of the Board of Directors, the Campaign Executive Committee and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Knox County General Hospital cordially invite you, your family and friends, to inspect your medical and surgical center Wednesday afternoon, July 30, 2 to 5 o'clock. A musical program will be rendered and refreshments served in the William Bick Home for Nurses directly opposite the hospital proper. There will be no solicitation of funds on this occasion. The Knox County General Hospital and the William Bick Home for Nurses is located at the corner of Maple and White streets in Rockland."

tain had brought along with him two of the ladies starring in the Show Boat, together with the talented accompanist, Miss Verna Robinson.

Mrs. Rensforth Yeo, the Glamour Girl of Show Boat, clad in the costume of her great-grandmother sang "You are in My Heart Alone" and as an encore "Tell Me That You Love Me." Now here is a real glamour girl, to charm of manner add a voice of clearness, sweetness and beauty. But really you must see the show.

Mrs. LeRoy McCluskey as "Fannie McIntyre" in the Show is bound to please. And were some 70 Rotarians pleased? They are laughing now. The rendering of the songs "More to be Pitted Than Censored," and "Only a Bird in a Gilded Cage" imitatively sung and acted were responsible for the hilarity. But see the Show—by R. L. W.

Wincapaw Services

Funeral Of Late Aviator Saturday Was An Impressive Affair

Simple and impressive funeral services were held in the Congregational Church Saturday afternoon for the late Capt. William H. Wincapaw.

Rev. Charles Monteith, who opened the services with a scripture reading and prayer read the poems "The Eternal Goodness" by John Greenleaf Whittier; "A Comrade Rides Ahead," by Emerson Hough and "The House by the Side of the Road," by Sam Walter Foss.

Members of the Rockland Masonic bodies attended the services, James E. Stevens conducting the Masonic ritual; after which the Rev. Mr. Monteith gave the benediction.

Floral tributes to one who was a pioneer in aviation, and nationally known for his activities over a flying career of 37 years, came from all parts of the country from aviation groups and associates of the past. The church was banked with flowers sent by his host of friends, both local and out of town.

The Coast Guard paid tribute to the man who served as aerial Santa Claus to its New England lights and surf stations each Christmas for a great many years with flowers and a delegation headed by Lieutenant John Joseph and members of the staff of the Rockland base.

Burial was in Friendship. Bearers were Charles H. Berry, Benjamin Philbrook, Sumner Whitney, Furber Teel, C. M. Loser, and Stuart C. Burgess.

Warren Players Take Home
Town By Storm—Here
Next Week

A magnificent piece of showmanship was displayed Monday evening when the Georges River Show Boat had its premiere of a three days run at the Warren Town Hall, by the Warren Players. The author and director of this new musical comedy, George W. J. Carr with over a cast of 50 singers, dancers and comedians, played their way right into the hearts of the audience. This group of talented players under the direction of Mr. Carr offers for charity and civic projects one play each Summer.

They seem to move in a magic circle of charm, where costumes of the olden days under bright lights and lovely music, pay a fitting and yet thrilling homage to the early days in New England. In the spotlight and trained for such breath taking beauty of showmanship, several spots in the production leaves one with the mental beauty that the author Mr. Carr has written into this play when all the romance of the 1800s is captured.

With all seats sold this new play will come to Rockland next Monday and Tuesday to play for the benefit of the Childrens Playground in Rockland and again the players will find a crowded Community Building to greet them for the tickets for the two nights are selling fast for this worthy project of the Kiwanis Club.

Greater Cooperation

Is Urged By Chairman Crockett In Salvation Army Drive

Herman W. Crockett, chairman of the current Salvation Army effort to raise funds in Vinalhaven, urges even greater co-operation to insure a complete success for this worthy cause.

Mr. Crockett said: "The Vinalhaven Salvation Army Service Unit is an important part of a great organization, serving mankind through its Health and Welfare services, under the direction of an active local committee. In supporting the Salvation Army in its local and regional service, you act as a neighbor and friend to others whose well-being is of concern to us all. Never before has there been a greater need to reaffirm our way of life through voluntary sharing with others. Your financial assistance is an indispensable source of funds to help carry on this great work."

Mr. Crockett added that contributions should be handed or mailed to Leon W. Sanborn, Manager of The Knox County Trust Company and treasurer of this appeal.

Jim Whatley, Mississippi line coach, was an All-Conference star at Alabama in both football and basketball.

Educational Club
Has Privilege Of Hearing Two Very Interesting Speakers
Mrs. Minnie Rogers was hostess to the Woman's Educational Club at her home on Amesbury street, Friday, for an outstanding picnic.
Commander Richard P. Hodson was guest speaker in the afternoon and gave a splendid account of his experience as commander of 28 small islands in the South Pacific during the war. His work was in the capacity of protector for this tiny kingdom from the atrocity of Japanese war tactics. On several occasions he had opportunity to witness the gratefulness of these people. One of the chiefs, in conversation with the American officials, said he had been on Iwo Jima and had witnessed the horrible massacre of the natives and how very grateful others were for protection.
Most of his service had been on the Island of Togatabu a small island in the Friendly Group, which in his opinion was the most beautiful of the islands. The climate was delightful rarely going above 93 degrees, and generally healthful.
The people belong to the Caucasian race, Polynesians, and many speak English fluently. There is evidence of their descent from Biblical ancestry in the ruins of an ancient palace, the gate of which is still standing, a huge stone structure weighing three tons. The gate is made of three stones mortised together and has defied time, presumably made before the age of steel and iron tools were known. Another strange fact, these stones are not of the variety of those on the island and this had to be imported.
The people are friendly and industrious, and may be classified in three groups, the Royal Family, the Chiefs and the Commoners. Commander Hodson laughingly remarked, "These people have only one vice, and that is stealing, they have no conception of mine and steel and iron tools were known. Another strange fact, these stones are not of the variety of those on the island and this had to be imported."

Plants for Flower Show
The third annual flower show will be held at Town Hall, Aug. 28, by the Woman's Club field and garden unit.

Holiday Boosts Maine
Magazine Of Current Issue Devotes 21 Pages To This State
A 21-page presentation of the State of Maine, which several officials have termed the most imposing ever accorded the State of Maine by a national magazine, appears in the current issue of Holiday, which comes out today.
A specially-designed front cover, 59 photos in color and black and white, a double page pictorial map and three major articles written by Maine authors present a comprehensive picture of Maine's recreation, agriculture, industry and fisheries.
One of the most spectacular of all the photos is a full-page color reproduction of the familiar Portland Headlight, with a combination of surf and pastel shading unlike any shown before on canvas or print. The photographer, Ralph Royall, arrived in Portland on special assignment one day last Spring, found one of the few cloudless days of that season and took an afternoon color picture to complete the assignment in a few hours. The most widely-used previous photo of Portland Headlight by a Maine marine photographer took three years to catch in black and white.
Arthur Bartlett, born in the town of Norway and a graduate of Bowdoin College, is author of the principal roundup article in the issue, writing from a background of experience as a State-wide writer for the Portland Press Herald and frequent subsequent visits to Maine for feature articles.
Other articles are titled "Maine People Are Moderate," by Mary Ellen Chase, the famous Maine novelist; "Maine Cellars," a humorous piece by John Gould, editor of the Lisbon Falls Enterprise and Maine author; and "Summer Sails," an illustrated article on Maine yachting.
The Maine Development Commission and the Maine Publicity Bureau collaborated with the editors of Holiday in gathering material for the current issue, which was more than a year in preparation.
The magazine's cover, a buxom ship's figurehead, was painted by artist E. Kirtman Plummer, who made a thorough study of drawings and originals of figureheads that adorned old-time whalers and clipper ships. According to the artist, the illustration as a whole symbolizes Maine—the coastline suggests the modern State and the ship and figurehead some of the industry and tradition of Maine's past.
exception of one child, who developed pneumonia and died.
Crews worked without food or rest till the peak had passed. Many were very sick when the waters finally receded.

Blanked Boothbay

Visitors Failed To Pin Back the Ears of Vinalhaven Chiefs

Vinalhaven 6, Boothbay 0

The Boothbay Tigers, an old bitter rival of The Chiefs, crossed the bay, ran smack into Carvers wicket curves and bowed in defeat, after having now eight straight games with no defeats this season.

Carver gave up eight bingles and ball stops by Guilford, one of them with the bases loaded, and Guilford racing dead and far to his left making a sensational play to cut the runner down and retire the side. Haskell fielded brilliantly at short and had a perfect day at bat with three singles. Carver also had three for five.

The Tigers threatened in the second and third but were cut down at the plate by five throws and clever work by White at the plate, who handled his position in his usual excellent manner.

The Chiefs gathered 12 safeties off Greenleaf. The first inning Swanson opened with a single to center, went to third on Carver's roller, and scored on a double steal. The next scoring didn't come until the fifth when 10 men batted and five runs were scored on five hits and a walk, White, Teele and Lyford delivering. The punch which drove in the runs, T. Rice's diving catch of Carver's line smash was one of the highlights, and Brewer's work behind the plate was outstanding.

Manager Grover of the Tigers must have a faint blush, after the premature threat he made that the Tigers would pin back the "Chiefs' ears."

Next Sunday the Islanders takes a road trip to Camden (by water, that is) and tangle with their old nemesis, The Shells.

North Parish Bell

Will Ring Again On Friday, 197th Anniversary Of Gen. Knox's Birth

'Twas the hand of the General that placed me here.
In the days when the land was young
I was born in the foundry of Paul Revere.
And I speak with a mighty tongue.
I pealed out a welcome to Royal guests,
I rang for the blushing bride,
I rang, when they christened a bonny babe.
And I tolled, when the General died.
My voice grew cracked, and a royal foot badly Thursday by stepping on a nail.

The son of Zion's King,
Gave me a voice that was clear and true.
And I welcomed the Baptists in!
I called them Sunday to come to church.
And they docked to my doors with pride.
But at last my voice was hushed and stilled.
Yet I tolled when the General died.
Silent I hung, and watched decay
Creep up on my spire fair.
I saw Montpelier pass away,
Like its master, who'd placed me there.

Til at last there were only a loyal few
That remained in the countryside
Who had known Montpelier and still recalled.
How I tolled when the General died.
In their noble work, I had my part
And I saw beside me grow.
A new Montpelier, as passing fair
No longer I used to know!
For they took me down from my belfry tall
And I traveled far and wide,
On a pilgrimage, to help raise funds,
For I'd tolled when the General died.
And now I hang in my lofty spire,
And my home is an empty shell,
No longer I call them to come to church.
And escape from the horrors of Hell!
Yet still speak with the voice of Re-

ver.
A message loud, I have cried.
As I proudly ring for the General's birth.
As I tolled when the General died.
And again I will tell of the mighty men,
As I speak with my clanging tongue,
Whose voice re-echoed beneath my roof.
In the days when the land was young.
Yet soon, I too, will pass away
Unless there be found on earth,
An ear who hears my clanging call.
As I ring for the General's birth!

On July 25, 1947, the Paul Revere bell, gift of Gen. Knox, for the North Parish Church, will ring in the 197th anniversary of the General's birth.

Maine Lobster Catch

Falls Off Nearly One-Third In First Five Months Of the Year

A decrease of more than 30% in the Maine lobster catch for the first five months of 1947 as compared with the same period in 1946 is indicated by figures now being compiled by Sea and Shore Fisheries statisticians Lewis Cates of Rockland.

Cates said that preliminary estimates showed a total five-month poundage of 2,877,965 pounds while the 1946 catch was 4,261,725 pounds. The 12 month total for 1946 was more than 18,000,000 pounds and it exceeded 19,000,000 pounds in 1945. Dollar volume is off by $655,888 with the total of $1,327,914 running a poor second to last year's five month total of $1,987,000. These figures represent the money paid to fishermen.

The month of May showed the greatest decrease with 785,632 pounds against 1,663,000 pounds in 1946. Another big loss was registered in April with 561,000 against 843,000 pounds.

According to Cates, the department can offer no definite reason for the big decrease but he said that number of theories and possibilities were being thoroughly investigated. The catch was also low in June and early July but present indications are that it is beginning to pick up in a number of areas. The light production existed all along the coast he said.

Maine dealers have had a difficult airline pilot or enter government work in aviation.

Holdings of the company include the seaplane base and ramp at Public Landing and two Republic SeaBee amphibian planes. The Cub Cruiser in which the senior Wincapaw crashed with a passenger last Wednesday was also owned by the seaplane line.

The DC-3 cargo planes, converted from former Army C-47's, either have been disposed of or will be during this week, closing entirely the air operations started less than one year ago.

Frank H. Whitney

Late Rockland Man Termed Fine Example of Transplanted Maine Yankee

Commenting upon the passing of Frank H. Whitney, former Rockland man who died recently in Fruitland Park, Fla., the Holyoke (Mass.) Transcript-Telegram had the following to say:

Early in the century they began to know Frank H. Whitney, who came down from Rockland, Me., and proceeded to develop the Friendly Village which is the description of themselves that Fruitland Parkers wear on their automobiles. Mr. Whitney died this week aged 89. He and the late Hugo Friedrich were the same age and used to talk about it with each other. Each claimed he was the stronger and better man physically. Mr. Friedrich went into the orange grove business.

Mr. Whitney, who had been a mariner out of Rockland, and had landed at most of the handsome harbors in the world, retired to be a lighthouse keeper and after that a confectioner in Rockland. Health and the late Dr. Eben Allen brought him to Fruitland Park. There he started to build houses and give parties. As long as his devoted wife lived they gave the most wonderful parties. They would organize picnics that took in the entire neighborhood and if necessary they would provide the food. They would take everybody across to the Gulf of Mexico for oyster roast and fairly pick the oysters right out of the Gulf.

Year after year they organized wonderful boating trips taking everybody through lakes, rivers and feeding them somewhere along the way. If the party got too big for the one boat he would charter another. The Whitneys gave almost continuous card parties.

He built several houses, more or less with his own hands. He bought many more so that at one time he owned at least a dozen houses in Fruitland Park. He bought and sold land. He set up a community water system. That is he took over such water supplies as were to be had, bought in some more and Fruitland Park was that way sanitized. He was very active in the Methodist Church but would be seen at any and all of the churches helping where he could. That is, Frank H. Whitney was a community-minded man. He planted palms and trees and grew flowers not just because he loved them but he thought it made a better community.

In fact Mr. Whitney was as fine an example of the transplanted Maine Yankee as you would ever hope to see. He had considerable interest in many ventures in Lake County. His native shrewdness had something of the prophetic quality about it. He seemed to know when a prospect would mature properly. In that he was a contrast to so many investors in the South. He was a prosperous man because he worked hard.

After the death of Mrs. Whitney, some years ago, he gave up his social life living more quietly with his flowers and his birds and his neighbors. But he did not give up his business interests until the pains of age closed on him a year or so ago.

Mr. Whitney leaves two sons, Ruel, a former mayor of Fruitland Park, and Frank Leslie, a YMCA man now living in Phoenix, Arizona. There are grandsons and great-grandchildren.

These Men Fought In Revolution; Lie Buried In Tolman Cemetery

Next Friday, (anniversary of the birthday of Major General Henry Knox) the Maine Society Daughters of the American Revolution, plan to place a bronze plaque on a slab of granite, at entrance to the Tolman cemetery, Rockland, honoring the memory of 21 soldiers and sailors of the American Revolution who lie buried there.

The granite base is to be furnished by Alfred C. Hocking of the John Meehan & Son granite quarry, Clark Island, St. George.

This is the annual State Field Day with Historic Marking by our Society. Exercises will take place at 11:30 a. m. with State Officers, a few National Officers, and other persons of note. Printed program will be given to you as soon as they are at hand. The address of welcome will be given by Mrs. Roy E. Heywood, State Regent, Maine D. A. R. Response by the State Vice Regent Mrs. J. B. Perkins of Boothbay Harbor. Greetings from distinguished guests. Presentation and dedication of the Tablet by State Regent and State Chaplain Mrs. Mrs. Howard Proctor, registrar.

Howard R. Houston, Brewer, Acceptance by P. D. Farnsworth, C. T. Manager.

A short historical address in regard to the gift of land by Isaiah Tolman to Rockland, July 13, 1783, which is recorded in the First Book of Town Records, page 48, will be given by the State Historian, Mrs. Ernest I. Spence, of Sanford.

After the dedication, luncheon will be served by the Thomaston Chapter, O. E. S., in Masonic Temple, that town. Then adjournment to "Montpelier" for a formal program suitable to the anniversary celebration.

I am enclosing a list of the names of the Men of the Revolution who lie buried in Tolman Cemetery; also a short biographical sketch of each one, taken from Eaton's History of Thomaston, Rockland and South Thomaston; and a bit of the history of land donated for the Cemetery. And a poem by Maurice Hill, which is to be read on the occasion of the dedication.

The marker will be unveiled by Mrs. George L. St. Clair, regent, and Mrs. Howard Proctor, registrar.

Lady Knox Chapter, D. A. R. Maude Blodgett.

The Cemetery Deed:

July 11, 1783, Isaiah Tolman, in consideration of the want thereof, conveyed as a gift to the town, one acre of land for a burying-ground, "situated on a Hill within his farm, for the use of the inhabitants, and such others as may have occasion to use the same for that purpose."

"His Deed is recorded surrounded by a black border on the 48th page of the First Book of Town Records." This burying-ground near Blackington's Corner, Rockland, is still occupied and so far as appears by the inscriptions, the earliest interments there were those of William, infant son of Captain William Spear, and Jacob Keen, the early settler and hunter of that region, both in the year 1788.

TO THOSE WHO REST

They lie beneath these tombstones Those gallant pioneers Who blazed the trail through forests With many hopes and fears. They built their homes on high lands, Then cleared away the vines And bartered with the Indians Along the woodland trails. They cut pine trees from the hillsides And hauled them to the strands, And built their stately vessels To sail to distant lands. They fought the British far away, For freedom of our land. Two came triumphant to their homes A free and happy band. They tilled the soil and raised their sons To sail their ships to sea, And dreamed of gold on starry nights, And planned their destiny. They prophesied a city below their hillside farms, And winding roads that flowed with life. And peaceful, happy, busy days Instead of war and strife. Their mission ended years ago; They entered into rest, And lie beneath these tombstones That face the golden west.

Movie Star Here

Rockland-Born Betty Yeaton Was Guest of the Robert Pendletons

Miss Betty Yeaton, 23, stage and movie acrobatic dancer of Glendale, Calif., was week-end guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pendleton of Center street and her aunt, Mrs. Frances Hall. She is now visiting relatives on Islesboro, staying with Mrs. Howard Pendleton.

Miss Yeaton traveled the European theatre throughout the war with USO troupes. Tours were made with Pat O'Brien to the China-Burma-India theatre, Jinx Falkenburg being in the same show. Italy and South Africa were toured with Frank Sinatra and Phil Silvers. Last year, she toured Pacific bases, also under USO sponsorship.

Since the war, she has appeared in the motion pictures "Kid From Brooklyn" and "Time, Place and the Girl."

Born in Rockland, she moved to the West coast at the age of one with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Yeaton. She accompanies her parents on the trip East in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Yeaton is the former Elizabeth Scobille of Islesboro. Mr. Yeaton was for several years employed by Central Maine Power Company in Rockland as an electrician.

The combined tension of the strings of an upright piano is about 14 tons.

Playground Pointers

First Field Day At Community Park A Very Successful Affair

Last Friday about 150 children enjoyed the first field day at the playground. Old Man Weather gave his best and the youngsters of Rockland really turned out for a day of fun and frolic.

Races of every description made up the program with individual prizes being the reward for the victors. In the junior boys' division, ages 8-11, Richard Micue made a clean sweep taking all the running events and a good share of the obstacle races. For his hard and great work, Richard was rewarded an autographed American League ball.

In the girls' division the outstanding performer was Celia Crie who received an autographed official softball. The Newhall twins Marion and Mary gave Celia plenty of competition and when the bicycle races came around Jane Breen was on top, but Celia managed to stay out front and cop the award.

After the races were over the whole group partook in a hunt and find contest. Scattered all over Community Park were candy bars, a new autographed baseball and a new autographed softball. Candy bars by the dozen turned up and the lucky boy to find the baseball was Dan Flanagan and the shiny softball went to Nathan Wiggins.

Because of the popularity and the success of the affair at least one more will be held this year. Results of the events are as follows.

Vacation Loans

DON'T borrow unnecessarily, but if a cash loan is the best solution to a vacation money problem, get it from Personal—the company that likes to say "Yes." Single or married men and women can get vacation loans quickly and privately on just their salary only, furniture, or auto. No co-signers, outsiders, friends or relatives involved.

CASH YOU GET	Pick Your Own Payments	12 Mo.	15 Mo.	18 Mo.

SOMEHOW the sky seems bluer and the sun shines brighter when you and this Buick are enjoying the day together.

Somehow the sudden summer shower seems more of a lark, less of a bother, when it's pattering on the snug shelter this tidy number throws up automatically at your touch on a control.

Somehow autumn air is more winey, swirling winter snows more fun when your choice is a Buick — and a Convertible as tight and all-weather-ready as this one.

Maybe it's because your style sense tells you these sleek lines and this rich treatment are going to stay the fairest of the automotive fair.

Maybe it's because you find, in the big Fireball straight-eight under your treacle foot, an ever-eager, ever-lively companion-in-adventure that acknowledges no peer for life and lift and velvet-smoothness.

It could be the rare and pleasurable steadiness given an open car by good, solid Buick construction. It could be, simply, that here at last you find size and ability and smartness and finish to match your dreams of a perfect travel mate.

All we know is that this is one of the standout favorites in a line of cars that stands out as the most wanted in America.

So when good friends come to us asking, "How do I get one of those snappy Buick Convertibles?" our full and forthright answer is always the same:

Sign up for one, sir — soon as you can. The sooner we have your firm order for one, the sooner you start climbing up our customer list.

And we promise you: You'll mount that ladder equally fast whether or not you have a car to trade.
